Sacramento Valley Charter School December Parent Newsletter

Dear Parents,

The uncertainty due to COVID-19 continues to affect our decision to reopen the school. Most of the counties are in the purple tier and it means that conditions are not safe for normal functioning. We know how difficult it is for our parents and families to cope with pressures of work related responsibilities and extra burden of monitoring kids' education at home. Distance learning can't be the ideal substitute for in-person classes. SVCS teachers and staff are working under these difficult circumstances to make online learning a rewarding experience for our scholars. Your partnership and trust are extremely important to achieve our goals.

The State Board of Education recently approved a plan to assess student learning, grade 3-8, at the end of the school year. Smarter Balanced Assessments (SBA) will not be waived as it happened last year. The only difference is that the CDE approved a modified SBA or CAASPP (summative) in ELA and Math that will be shorter versions of standardized tests. The assessments will be to assess the distance learning and thus get funds from the state.

After we come back from the winter break, the first week is marked for SBA or CAASPP interim assessments. Students will get training on how to improve on these assessments. In the second week, interim assessments will be administered to all students, grade 3 through 8. In the last week of April, the summative assessments of these standardized tests will be administered. Parents are welcome to contact the office for more information on these assessments.

As you know SVCS's "mission is to create an inspiring and challenging learning environment for our children and to promote a culture of strong social and family values." We resolve to stay close to SVCS's mission statements and continue to make a difference in the lives of our students.

The report cards that you received indicate how your scholar has been doing in school since August 13, 2020. The second trimester is in progress and it will end on February 26, 2021. If you have concerns about your scholar's performance, please don't hesitate to contact us. Stay involved in your scholar's education, even if you are busy. You can make a big difference.

- Show your scholar you care about school and his/her future success.
- School attendance, homework completion, and healthy meals are some of the steps to success
- Talk with your scholar regularly about future goals
- Discuss progress reports and report cards together with your scholar
- Talk with your scholar about bullying and don't ignore questions about discipline
- Respond to school's messages promptly
- Stay involved in school events and keep in touch with teachers

Typing Club and Writing: Education has drastically changed since Smarter Balanced Assessments have been implemented. It requires that all scholars are proficient in typing so that they can demonstrate their writing skills on computer based standardized tests. But it doesn't mean that there is no need for handwriting skills anymore. Please make sure scholars are taking notes while in their classes and their handwriting is legible and easily decipherable. If you have any concerns about your scholars' handwriting, please don't hesitate to bring it to their teachers' attention.

Testing CAASPP Summative and ELPAC Summative testing windows have been scheduled for scholars in the last week of April and May of 2021.
